

Library Update Spring 2021

More than just books

Greenhill Library is open for browsing!

	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
10am	Click & Collect				Click & Collect	Browsing and Family Session
Noon
2pm	Browsing		Browsing		Browsing
4pm

We are now open again for browsing, though with restricted hours as shown above.

- There will be a limit on the number of customers to aid social distancing
- You'll be required to wear a face covering (unless you're exempt)
- You'll be asked to provide a name and contact number for Test-and-Trace
- We have a limited number of public computers available
- Photocopying and printing facilities are available, and the bookshop is open!

Family sessions are also available on Saturday mornings but we are asking you to book a time in advance by phoning us on 2377657

Our order and collect service is also available. You can order books by completing a simple form on our web site at greenhill-library.org/uc or by phoning us on 2377657

We have lots of new book stock including this selection of board books for pre-schoolers.

Book sale on the lawn, Saturday 22 May, 10-12

A chance to pick up adult and children's books, DVDs and jigsaws at very low prices. Please maintain social distancing and note that we won't be giving change. Weather permitting, of course.

Storytelling, Saturday 29 May.

Janet Black will be telling stories for little ones on the lawn on 29 May. There will be sessions at 10 and 11. They are free, but in line with government restrictions we're limited to 30 people, so we're asking you to book a session using the little form on our web site at greenhill-library.org/storytelling-on-the-lawn/. We'll confirm your booking by email. Please don't come unless you have a confirmed booking. Weather permitting!

Open Gardens Weekend 10/11 July

At the last count, we have 18 local gardens opening for your enjoyment over the weekend. One ticket (£5) gets you in to all the gardens. Tickets will be available beforehand at the library or from the lawn on the day. All ticket sales money will go to supporting the library.

This year's Greenhill Scarecrow Festival and Competition will run from 7 – 21 August. Competition entry forms will be available from the library and on the web site nearer the time.

Lowedges update: Following our recent partnership agreement with the Terminus Initiative, we have almost completed relocating our Lowedges library to what used to be The Terminus Café, right in the heart of the Lowedges shops. Re-opening is scheduled for 19 May. Keep an eye on our Facebook page and web site for details.

We do not yet have plans or dates for restarting indoor events such as the book clubs, the various children's activities and the cinema evenings, but we'll review the situation regularly. If you have internet access we recommend you bookmark our web site (greenhill-library.org) and check back for updates, or follow us on Facebook.
